

DEFENSE DAY IS ENDORSED AS AN ANNUAL OBSERVANCE

Approval to The Plan is Passed in Resolutions by 139th Field Artillery Association

SUCCESSFUL REUNION IS HELD

World War Veterans Select Marion
as Next Convention City and Also Elects New Officers

RUSSEL DAVIS NEW PRESIDENT

Marion Man is Elected And Two Vice Presidents Named—Hospitality of Rushville is Praised

Two hundred World War veterans,
former members of the 139th Field
Artillery, gathered in Rushville over Saturday and Sunday in their third annual reunion convention, and during the business session, Marion was selected as the place for holding the next reunion.

The first business session was held Saturday afternoon late, in the assembly room of the court house, and the concluding business session was held Sunday morning, when election
of officers was held and resolutions adopted.

Foremost among the resolutions,
was one endorsing the annual observance of National Defense Day.

The feature on the Saturday program was the banquet given at the Social club, when the 200 former soldiers sat down to "mess".

The convention program ended
Sunday afternoon at Memorial Park
when Dwight Aultman, commander
at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, delivered the address, following a concert by the Eleventh Infantry band of the fort. The "retreat" was held on the vacant place west of the coliseum,
and a photograph taken of the members.

In the election of officers, Barnett
W. Breedlove of Indianapolis, retired as president, and Russell Davis
of Marion, elected the new president.

Two vice presidents were elected,
first vice president being Fred Elzey
of Decatur and Ray Goodwin of Indianapolis second vice president,
Floyd E. Anderson of Elizabethtown
is the permanent secretary-treasurer
of the association.

The retiring president, Mr. Breed-
love delivered his address at the Saturday afternoon program, and the various committees were appointed, including the resolution
committee headed by C. V. Cross
of Indianapolis. The resolutions in part
are as follows:

Whereas: September 12 has been designated by General Pershing as "Defense Day," as a time to take stock of our means of national de-

POLITICAL WORKERS WERE BUSY TODAY

Were Making Final Attempt to Have
All Legal Voters Properly Registered

POLLS OPENED ALL DAY

Political workers for both parties
were busy in Rushville today attempting to have all voters properly
registered in order to vote in the November election.

It was the last opportunity given
eligible voters to get their names on the books, and those who failed to
be registered will be unable to vote
in the election. The registration was for the purpose of listing only those voters who have moved or changed
precincts since the last election, or
new voters who have never voted.

Indications at most of the registration booths in the precincts of Rush-
ville were that the political workers were working hard to make a big percent in the showing. Many persons previously registered at the clerk's office in the court house, others applied by mail, but most of them appeared personally today at the booths.

Today also was the last chance
for persons to move from one precinct to another in order to hold their votes, and those moving after today,
will not be eligible to vote in another
precinct.

Memories Should Tend to Inspire Better Citizens

Recollection of Comradship During
The World War, Carried on Through Times of Peace, is a Sensitive for Civic Virtue, Dwight Ault-
man, Commander at Ft. Harison, Tells 139th F. A. Veterans, in Address Sunday Afternoon. Much Interest is Shown at Closing Session
of Convention, With Public Attending

To carry throughout life the recollection of comradship during the war
and the vast importance that can be gained from such memories in peace
times, was the keynote to the address of Brigadier General Dwight Aultman, commander of the forces
at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, who spoke to the 139th Field Artillery association Sunday.

There was a large crowd on hand,
not only of former soldiers, but of
citizens who applauded the veteran
soldier and gave him quite an ovation, when he was introduced by Harry B. Smith, adjutant general of the Indiana National guard forces.

Mr. Smith was introduced by a few remarks by John H. Kiplinger
of this city, who was in charge of the arrangements for the third annual convention of the 139th Field Artillery association gathering here. Adjutant General Smith praised General Aultman as being a leader among men and he was pointed out as being one of the best commanders ever
in charge of the Indiana post at Ft.
Harrison.

The Eleventh Infantry band from
the fort, acted as an escort for General Aultman and the thirty piece
musical organization under the leadership of Sergeant Wilhavanin rendered a concert on the stage of the coliseum for an hour preceding the address. The army band came here in large motor trucks, and marched
from the business district to the coliseum. Every number that they played was highly encored.

After General Aultman had been introduced he stated that he was glad of the opportunity of speaking to the former members of the 139th
Field Artillery. He applauded them
for their valuable service rendered
during the World War.

"Such an association as you men
have formed," he said, "serves to bring back the recollections which are held by you. As we grow older
we will cherish those recollections more and more. We don't remember the easy times that we had, but we do
remember the hard times."

The commanding officers stated that the World War taught them one important thing—discipline. He then compared the fact that the object
lesson of discipline taught them during the war, was carried on to their graves, with the purpose of making better citizens out of them for all time to come.

He compared the reunion gatherings of the field artillery as being for
the purpose of encouraging them to become better citizens. To be better citizens during peace time was even more important than during war time, he stated.

"Discipline is the voluntary subjection of a man to carry his orders
and ideals through," General Aultman pointed out. "Discipline is the subjection of an individual from within, is my way of defining it."

The speaker recalled the confidence that the soldiers had in their leaders, and the confidence and fidelity that they had in their comrad,
next in line on the battle front.
These traits should be continued in all future to come, he said, with the view of making and uplifting the
peace time quality of our citizenship.
"Such an organization as you men
have formed, is for the purpose of consecrating those by-gone days,
and to promote civic virtue among all," he said. Civic virtue is needed
by all, and we need it in peace as well as war."

General Aultman also paid a compliment to Adjutant General Harry
B. Smith, commander of the Indiana National guard. He referred to his leadership with the guard companies

Is Ready

CEREMONIES ON TUESDAY

An Impressive Program has Been Arranged for the Dedication—
Entire State Invited

Indianapolis, Ind., October 6—Tomorrow—Tuesday, October 7—on the birthday anniversary of James Whitcomb Riley, there will be dedicated a new institution, designed to perpetuate the memory of Indiana's beloved poet of childhood, and devoted to the cure of sick and crippled
children who were immortalized in his most appealing verses.

In the pivotal point of an area
that is destined to become one of America's foremost medical and hospital centers, stands the James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital
for Children. Three of its seven units are complete and ready to receive
the first child patients of the thousands of ailing and afflicted children
of Indiana who will enter its portals
to receive the health giving ministrations of skillful physicians and surgeons and the tender care of kindly nurses. As rapidly as the generous hearted men and women of Indiana rally to the support of this great institution and give the funds
that are needed to complete the remaining units, the construction
work will go on, and instead of being able to receive only a few scores
of patients, the hospital will be capable of treating 3,000 cases of child illness or deformity annually. The need for these additional units was expressed recently when he stated that he was informed 10,000 children in Indiana now need the services of the Riley Hospital for Children.

Impressive dedication ceremonies
have been arranged for the formal presentation of the hospital to the people of Indiana by the Riley Memorial Association. Two men—both of high standing in American educational circles—Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times and
formerly commissioner of education
for the state of New York, and Dr.

CLUBS WILL CO-OPERATE

Rotary and Kiwanis Will Join in Fire
Prevention Display

Complete arrangements for the observance of National Fire prevention week in this city, for some day this week were not made today, because it was understood that the Rotary
and Kiwanis clubs expected to take part in the observance.

Members of the fire department
were ready to make a demonstration
in connection with the observance,
and the test of the two pumps and
other feats will be made at the same time that the clubs can agree upon,
according to Fire Chief Joe Williamson.

BAPTIST CHURCH TO OBSERVE RALLY WEEK

All Day Meeting Next Sunday Will End Series of Nightly Sessions
This Week

FORMER PASTOR TO SPEAK

This week will be observed as
"Rally Week" at the First Baptist church. The program for the week
will begin tonight at 7:30 o'clock
with a meeting of the Sunday school
teachers and officers and the officers of the organized classes. Questions
relative to the organization and
program of the school for the coming year will be discussed.

Tuesday evening's program will be given over to the young peoples'
work. Officers will be elected and other matters of importance will be discussed. On Wednesday night
there will be a men's banquet. Thursday night will be a general meeting
for the whole congregation and Friday night the music committee and choir will plan the music for the coming Sunday.

The program will close with an all day meeting on Sunday. Dinner will be served at the church. At 2:30 o'- clock the Rev. C. J. Bunnell a former pastor, will speak. A more detailed announcement of the program for Sunday will be made the last of this week.

CHARGED WITH AN ATTEMPT TO KILL

Silverton Miller Arrested as Suspect
of Having Fired Three Times at Elbert Carr

NEAR TRAGEDY SUNDAY NIGHT

Resident Was Fired Upon Through
Window, and Twice Outside—Hit
Once Through Finger

Silverton Miller, 219 West Sixth street, was held in jail today on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, following his arrest Sunday night as a suspect of having fired at Elbert Carr, at his residence, Third and Julian streets.

Three shots were fired, according to Patrolman Will Havens, one of the officers who were called to the scene of the shooting about nine o'- clock Sunday night. One of the shots struck Mr. Carr on a finger on his right hand.

Mr. Carr suspected Miller of shooting and a net was laid for him
by police and Sheriff Hunt, who arrested him a short time later riding
in a machine at Second and Main streets. He was placed in jail, and this afternoon the affidavit was filed
by Prosecutor Ketchum charging the defendant with attempting to kill Mr.
Carr.

According to the police, Mr. Carr was involved in a litigation a few weeks ago with the prisoner, in which he attempted to get possession
of rooms occupied by Miller at his residence at the corner of Julian and Third streets.

According to officers there was a grudge existing because of the eject-ment proceedings, and this was cited
as the reason for Mr. Carr suspecting him of doing the shooting. Police stated that they had witnesses
who saw Miller in that vicinity shortly before the shooting.

Mr. Carr was sitting in the front
part of his house Sunday night about 9 o'clock, when a shot was fired
through the window, presumably at his head. The double thickness of the window glass, combined with the fact that the bullet hit the piece of wood in the window curtain, caused
the shot to fall at Mr. Carr's feet,
according to the officers.

They asserted that Mr. Carr got

THREE PITCHERS IN NINTH

M'Graw Uses Good Headwork to

Moment

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 6—
Two singles and an error and a wild pitch
in the second inning gave the New York Giants two runs here this afternoon and enabled the National League champions to beat the Washington senators 6 to 4 in the third game of the world series.

Batting steadily as they did all season and in the first two games of the series, the senators rallied in the ninth inning and gave the Giants a terrible fright. They scored one run and McGraw used three pitchers to stop them. With the bases filled and the stands in an uproar McGraw pulled out Ryan and sent Jonnard
in. He issued a base on balls and forced in a run. John Watson, the former Brave, was then called on with a sore arm. He steadied and got little "Muddy" Ruel, the Washington
catcher, for the third out on an infield runner to Lindstrom.

You know what you want to eat but do you know where to buy it to the best advantage?

Selecting a place to buy is often a problem. There are so many grades of foodstuffs that it is difficult for many people to know which is the best for the amount of money invested.

It isn't necessary for us to tell you what we sell because we sell everything that is to be found in a first class grocery store — everything for which there is the least demand. What we want to impress upon the minds of our friends is the fact that it is our policy to sell only food stuffs of known value and of recognized quality, yet you will find our prices on many articles lower than those asked for goods of inferior quality at many stores.

The gun fired was a 32 calibre, according to the police, who have the bullet in their possession that was found in the room occupied by Mr. Carr, when first fired upon.

Upon the information ascertained by the police, the charge of an attempted murder was placed against the defendant in the circuit court, and the defendant will be given a preliminary hearing soon.

Walter A. Jessup, president of the University of Iowa, will be the principal speaker. The University of Iowa controls the Iowa State Hospital for Crippled Children, which until the building of the Riley Hospital, was America's leading institution of its kind.

Hugh McK. Landon, president of the Riley Memorial Association, will deliver the first address in which he will tell of the beginning of the dream in the minds of a small group of men that has resulted in the building of the Riley Hospital for Children. L. C. Huesman, chairman of the finance committee of the Memorial Association, will formerly present to the state of Indiana, the partially completed institution. Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University, will accept the gift on behalf of the state.

"Our Responsibility to Childhood" will be the subject of the address by Dr. Jessup. The address of Dr. Finley, which will close the ceremonies, will be "A Monument to James Whitcomb Riley."

From all parts of Indiana are coming to Indianapolis, men and women who were identified with the movement that made possible the building of the Riley Hospital. Many women, prominent in various communities of the state, are coming to serve as members of a state wide committee of women headed by Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the former vice-president of the United States. These women will be the guests at a special luncheon at the Indianapolis Athletic Club at noon and they will occupy specially reserved seats at the dedication ceremonies.

Newspaper editors and publishers from all parts of Indiana will be special guests at the hospital dedication, and Tuesday evening, Dr. Finley, who is one of the most eminent journalists in America, will be the speaker at a dinner given exclusively for Indiana newspaper men who attend the afternoon ceremonies.

CHAPTER MEETING

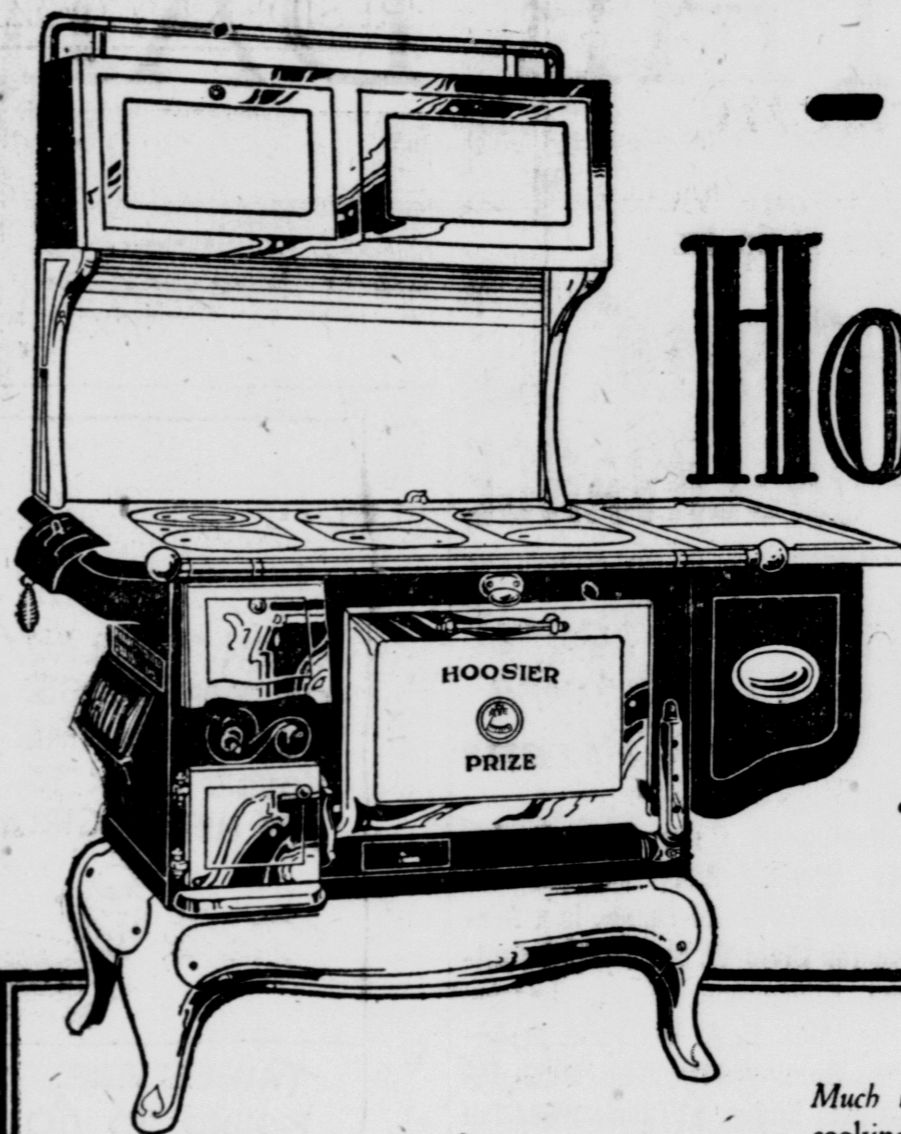

A. M. will hold their regular stated convocation Monday and Tuesday evening, Dr. Finley, who is one of the most eminent journalists in America, will be the speaker at a dinner given exclusively for Indiana newspaper men who attend the afternoon ceremonies.

A magic word in the realms of aviation. It means the instant roar of the powerful motor that is constantly tuned up and in perfect running condition.

But when that same contact is switched to the motor in your automobile when you step on the starter, does it mean that the same quick response will follow as it does on the pilot's plane? It should if your motor has proper care. Let us overhaul your car. Expert work with every care and precaution to make it right.

DEFENSE DAY IS ENDORSED AS ANNUAL OBSERVANCE

fense, and an opportunity to renew our pledge of fidelity and loyalty to our common country, we the members of the 139th F. A. association do hereby endorse and approve of the annual observance of the day.

Whereas: Captain John H. Kiplinger as chairman of the general committee and Captain Lowell M. Green as chairman of the banquet committee and their associates have been untiring in their efforts to make the Third annual reunion of the 139th F. A. an enjoyable occasion, the Regimental association desires to express their sincere thanks and appreciations.

Furthermore: the 139th F. A. association at their 3d reunion in Rushville, expresses our cordial thanks to the citizens of Rushville for the delightful entertainment and warm hospitality shown us while guests of the city, and that a copy of these resolutions be given to the press.

The above resolutions were passed and another one speaking complimentary words to Floyd E. Anderson of Elizabethtown, who is the permanent secretary-treasurer of the association. At the close of the exercises Sunday afternoon, when the "retreat" was made, C. V. Cross of Indianapolis stopped in the midst of it, and "commanded" Mr. Anderson to step out in front of the ranks. In a few fitting remarks, Mr. Cross spoke of the valuable service that Mr. Anderson was rendering the association, and stated that the members wanted to give him a remembrance. He was presented with a fine white gold watch, and was completely taken by surprise.

At the banquet Saturday night at the social club, the War Mothers and the wives of the World War veterans, were in charge, and the "mess" was pronounced as one of the best ever, and nothing was left undone to see to it that all were given as much to eat as they wanted.

At the banquet, John H. Kiplinger acted as toastmaster, and several of the soldiers were called upon for short talks. Jokes were sprung on each other, and a fine time was indulged in.

Adjutant General Harry B. Smith, commander of the Indiana National guard, who is a veteran soldier, was a guest and delivered the main address. General McIntyre was unable to come, and his message, together with other telegrams were read by Mr. Kiplinger.

The guests registered at the Hotel Lofts and were given badges. All were ably taken care of, and each veteran was high in their praise for the entertainment and hospitality shown them during their visit here.

Rules for right living:—Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice; and be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. Ephesians 5:31,32.

The World Series

Once more the world series is with us. It comes with October every year, the best team wins and fans call it the "world's" champion.

There are people who take no interest in base ball and therefore, no interest in the annual settlement of the question of team superiority, but the game has such a wide appeal in this country that it may well be called the national sport.

Football and basketball have their staunch adherents, but no game equals base ball in popularity. There is something about it that fits the true American idea of sportsmanship. Though co-ordinated effort by members of the team counts, each player shoulders a certain responsibility that calls for quick thinking and accurate action.

Unlike football, it is a game where every play can be seen and where every player has to measure up to his job.

Some objection is made to organized base ball because fortunes have been made by capitalizing the sport, but public opinion has made itself felt to such an extent that the club owners realize the necessity of keeping the sport clean.

The scandal in the Cincinnati-Chicago series should have been a lesson to players as well as managers, but it evidently has been forgotten by some few of them.

People who find pleasure in base ball will demand that the crooks be

2 Years Trouble Entirely Gone

Says Mrs. Hines in Telling Her Experience With Tanlac

While on a recent visit to relatives in Louisville, Ky., Mrs. H. C. Hines 1141 S. Keystone Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., gave out the following interesting statement regarding her experience with Tanlac:

"Two years of nervous indigestion had broke me so completely down that I was unable to even wait on the children. I got to where life was almost unbearable and every effort I made to regain my health ended in disappointment.

"But just when things looked darkest—when I felt that I would never be well again—I began taking Tanlac, which at that time was new on the market, and I found it, indeed remarkable. After about 8 weeks of the treatment I felt like a woman made over, nor have I had any of the old stomach and nerve troubles since. If I should need medicine."

"But just when things looked Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC. Government but make a success of driven out and that honesty be the rule in dealing with the public.

The club owners showed a disposition to be fair with fans when they gave Commissioner Landis supreme authority in dealing with unfair and dishonest players and managers. He has the backing of lovers of the sport everywhere, who want to see him rid base ball of the men who have given it a bad name.

How To Live Long

The average person may not be aware of the fact, but you can live six hundred years if you split your cholin.

This is the assertion of Dr. William Held of Chicago, who explains that cholin is the substance that coats glands, clogs them up and results in old age and senility.

So, to get at the seat of the trouble, the natural thing is to have a "cholin splitter" a disintegrator, as it were, which routs cholin and restores youthfulness.

Dr. Held insists that he has found a serum, made from the fresh glands of streets, which will do the work.

There is nothing new in the knowledge that cholin exists in the human blood, he says. It is ptomaine poisoning filtering into the blood from products of decomposition.

Thomas Parr, an Englishman, is reputed to have lived to the ripe old age of 154 and the Hungarian Zartini is said to have been 185 when he died. Dr. Held believes they absorbed some cholin splitter into their systems.

Medical science has not passed on the "secret" to long life, so most of us will suspend judgment and keep on absorbing our cholin until such time as those fitted by technical knowledge and experience come to some conclusion about the merit of the serum.

But the prospect of living to be six hundred years old has something that recommends itself, even though the means by which such an end is to be attained can not be regarded as very tenable.

Church Attendance

The commission on evangelism of the Federal Council of churches has started a campaign, to continue through the winter until Easter, which is designed to win converts for Christ through individual appeal.

Getting back to the plan of the Saviour, it is proposed that congregations everywhere shall send their members two by two into their neighborhoods to persuade people to take up Christian living, and in so doing acknowledge their belief in it by joining church, or attending if they already belong to some faith.

This appears to be the proper way to attack the problem of declining church attendance. The layman evangelist, if he himself lives the kind of a life that is an example for others to follow, can be much more effective in winning new recruits for Christian living than any other method.

The mass appeal lacks the personal touch that wins men and women to the cause of Christian living. Nothing is so powerful as good example. When deeds stand behind the invitation, it will be convincing. Otherwise such a campaign will accomplish little.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Army and navy officials are, unofficially, having no little fun out of the hornets' nest stirred up by Rear Admiral Charles Plunkett, commander of the Third Naval District at New York, in seeking to censor a Broadway play in which certain marines indulge in language and discuss situations so startling as to cast doubt on the efficacy of the marine corps as a medium of moral uplift.

The "Old Tars" and "Devil Dogs" about the navy building are getting a lot of smiles out of Plunkett's efforts, particularly, to expurgate the profanity in the play.

They concede that as an officer of long experience, Plunkett probably is an expert judge of profanity; but most of them were under the impression that he had lost his sensitivity to strong language, even by men in uniform.

That profanity is not unknown in the service, and that it is even indulged in, under provocation, by high officers, is asserted by one officer who recalls that when Admiral Plunkett was in command of the big naval guns which Uncle Sam sent up to the front on rail way mounts, shortly before the armistice, he himself was moved to picturesque and expressive expletives on one occasion when one of the big guns wouldn't fire.

"BUT," observes an officer of marines, "the cussin' done by Plunkett when the gun wouldn't go off wasn't a whisper. I was with an outfit of 75 artillery that had its horses parked about a quarter of a mile from where his Naval Nile had his big rogers lined up, and when those babies cut loose—wow!"

"The concussion blew our pup tents away. It gave us headaches. It woke us out of a sound sleep after 35 hours of hauling ammunition. It attracted German bombers. It played hell with the horses."

"From battery commander down to the lowest rear-rank private we all blasted the admiral from stem to stern. We raked him and his crew with all the cuss words we had known before enlistment, with others we had learned in a year and a half of service, and with still others which bubbled up out of sheer inspiration."

"How the admiral must have changed since those days, to let a few ordinary book cuss words get his goat."

THE admiral's concern over the "welfare of the service," through possible slight cast upon it by the play in question, also stirs an old side-kick of his to reminiscence.

"Where is the admiral's sense of humor," this old officer inquires.

"Just because a play intimates that our marines drink and have their little affairs he fears this will stop enlistments. When he was supervising marine construction in 'dear old Quincy, Mass., he knew better than that."

"And does he remember the trip of the special squadron to France 15 years ago?"

JUST what these old-timers recall, or claim to recall, in their "kidding" of Plunkett and his moral crusade against "What Price Glory" would make almost as thrilling a play as the drama against which the admiral has turned his heavy batteries.

His navy fellows are enjoying it, fully. Doubtless the producer of the play is also, for the publicity he has given it is packing the place to the galleries each night. And far from harming enlistments, it may be helping them.

"After seeing that play," one visitor remarked as he stumbled out of the theater, "I'd join the marines myself if I was five years younger and not married. Yes, even if I was just five years younger!"

in the state, as outstanding and had reached the point today of being more highly regarded than ever before in the history of the state.

General Aultman stated that there was a time when the National Guard was referred to rather slightly by most people, but he said from his country-wide vision of the guard, it is today ranking in the highest point in the esteem of the people, and he made a plea that sometime it would be an honor to belong to the guard.

He recalled the fact that the foundation of the 139th Field Artillery was from national guard units, and their success in the war demonstrated the value of their training. General Aultman referred to the enlistment in the guard company as belonging to the peace time army.

That General Aultman was speaking from the bottom of his heart was emphasized by the fact that his son graduated from college last summer, and when the son asked him what was the first thing that he should do, "I told him to go and join some national guard unit, which I am pleased to say, he did."

He pointed out that if war would break out, that the first line troops for the nation would be selected from the national guard.

Before closing his address he again made the appeal for peace time citizenry on a high scale, and urged the members of the 139th association, to continue to hold their annual meetings, and also urged upon all people to uphold the fine doctrines that stand out in this nation.

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, veins and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

MURDER TRIAL GETS UNDER WAY TODAY

Elmer Pruitt of Shelby County to be Tried for Killing His Cousin in Edinburg

WERE RIVAL MILK DEALERS

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 6—Elmer Pruitt, Shelby county farmer, went on trial in the Johnson county court today charged with murdering his cousin, Oscar Cutsinger, in the main street at Edinburg July 10.

The shooting was the culmination of a long feud between the two cousins, who were rival milk dealers.

Pruitt, according to witnesses, shot Cutsinger after the latter had turned away from the spot where they met and quarreled.

Pruitt fled to his home and shot himself. His condition was serious for several days.

Attorneys for Pruitt have not revealed the nature of the defense they will offer.

COLORED WOMEN STAGE FIGHT

Sanford Heaton is Beaten by Three Women Saturday Night

Police today were investigating an attack on Sanford Heaton, an aged retired farmer, who was struck and beaten on the streets Saturday night about 10:30 by three colored women.

Alldivits were being prepared today to bring the colored women into court. The attack happened on Morgan street, between Second and Third streets. It is said that the women who were walking side by side, were taking up all the sidewalk, and crowded Mr. Heaton off into the gutter. When he resented it, one of them is said to have picked up a broom and struck him over the head, and also across the hand, nearly breaking a bone in a finger. Dr. R. O. Kennedy attended the injured man.

ATTEND HIS FIRST SERMON

Christian Church Congregation Represented at Wilmington

A delegation of people from Rushville, members of the congregation of the Main Street Christian church, surprised the Rev. L. E. Brown Sunday, when they motored to Wilmington, O., to attend the first service for the Rev. Brown at his new charge. Those from here were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wilkinson, the Misses Gertrude and Lillian Wilkinson, Gene Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sparks and son Ben, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Virtue and daughter Dorothy. They were joined at Sabina, O., by Mr. and Mrs. Young and son. The Rev. Mr. Brown spoke of the event to his new congregation, and the local people report that he was given a splendid hearing at his initial service.

CATS, RABBITS, SKUNKS YIELD HIDES FOR MILADY'S OUTFIT

By HEDDA HOYT (Written for United Press)
"This life is getting punk." Said the lovely little skunk. "And life is just a skin game after all."

Since all the lovely women Are wearing fur as trimmin' The sweets of life have turned to bitter gall!

Not content with the usual types of furs which have been utilized for women's apparel for many years, furriers are turning towards some of the more lowly animals including skunks, weasels, household cats, ordinary goats, rabbits, etc.

When these less expensive furs are turned out in the finished garments they are sights to behold. Goat fur which looks as though it has been permanently waved and dyed a chocolate brown, forms many of the winter jaquettes and is used as trimming on suits of heavy cloth type. Rabbit fur and cat fur is clipped and dyed to resemble sable, squirrel and other more costly furs. Sometimes one sees a gorgeous wrap which looks as though it were made of tiny chipmunk skins, but on close inspection it turns out to be clipped cat fur.

Seal-skin wraps have become so common in recent years that many women are preferring inexpensive duplicates of more costly furs to the durable sealskins. Of course, there is no fur which wears as well as seal-skin, unless one wishes to spend a great deal of money on a coat. This season, however the vogue seems to be turning towards brownish furs and this will diminish the smartness of seal.

Among the unusual trimmings used on long coats and wraps we find the breast of the albatross used in band effect. It has been many years since albatross has been used on garments, although in our grandmother's day the feathers of this bird were considered quite chic. It combines beautifully with black cloth or heavy silk surfaced materials. Recently several long, straight-lined coats of heavy satin edged from neck to hem with albatross have appeared on Fifth Avenue, and they have been extremely smart.

The majority of fur coats are long this season and completely cover the frock, although there are models following the present French vogue of five-eighths length. Short jaquettes are used only in the inexpensive furs such as caracul, chocolate-dyed goat and leopard. Coat lines remain slender and straight, except in a few instances where the flaring flounce terminates the hemline. On many of the straight-lined coats there are hem borders of lion-haired fur such as fox, skunk, beaver, racoon, etc., corresponding with the fur used on collar and cuffs.

HOMEcoming OBSERVED

The Wesley M. E. church, colored, celebrated their annual homecoming and basket dinner at the church Sunday, and visitors from all over the state were here to take part in the observance. More than 200 attended the basket dinner at noon, and church services were in charge of various ministers who attended.

SUPREME COURT NOW IN SESSION

High Court of the United States,
Whose Power is Campaign Issue,
Starts Term

CONGRESS IS MAIN ISSUE

Court Must Decide Whether Investigation Committees Has Certain
Powers

By DALE VAN EVERY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 6.—The Supreme Court of the United States, whose
power is one of the foremost issues
in the presidential campaign, convened today for its 1924 term with an important limitation of the power
of congress the principal question
now before it for decision.

At the very time a major political movement is under way to curb the
the court, it is called upon to determine just what authority the congress has to inquire into the affairs of private citizens. A whole group of cases ranging from the refusal of Harry F. Sinclair to testify
before the Teapot Dome investigation committee to the refusal of steel companies to furnish the Federal Trade Commission with production
costs has brought this question
squarely before the court.

The court must decide whether investigating committees of congress
may compel private citizens to testify, whether private citizens may be required to deliver up accounts
and business records to the agents
of such a committee, and whether congress can authorize the Federal Trade Commission to delve into the business affairs of persons or corporations.

The question, with its many implications and possible consequences, is one of the most important upon which the Supreme Court has had to rule in many years. If it decides congress has no such authority congressional resentment may but add fuel to the LaFollette agitation to limit the power of the court. If it determines that private business and

private persons are subject to the inquisitive demands of congress or its delegated agents or committees, it is certain to mark a peculiarly significant increase in the powers of congress.

The famous cases involved in the Teapot Dome investigation are not yet directly before the court, but it is expected various phases of them
may get there before the end of this term. However in an indirect way
the court already has before it subsidiary issues arising out of the great senatorial investigations of the last session of congress.

Mel Daugherty, brother of former Attorney General Daugherty, refused to permit the senate committee investigating his brother's admiration
to inspect the books of his Ohio bank.
The committee held it had a court's power of subpoena. But the Daughertys took the question to court. The Supreme Court now has the question.

Another phase of the investigations which must soon be decided is
the contempt case brought against Harry F. Sinclair. Sinclair refused

point blank to testify before the Teapot Dome committee. He asserted the committee had no right to require
him to testify. He was found guilty
in lower federal courts of contempt
of the senate. When the Supreme Court finally passes on the question
the principle of the power of congress to require citizens to testify
before it or its committee will be established.

DEFENSE DAY IS ENDORSED AS AN ANNUAL OBSERVANCE

Approval to The Plan is Passed in Resolutions by 139th Field Artillery Association

SUCCESSFUL REUNION IS HELD

World War Veterans Select Marion as Next Convention City and Also Elects New Officers

Marion: Man is Elected And Two Vice Presidents Named—Hospitality of Rushville is Praised

Two hundred World War veterans, former members of the 139th Field Artillery, gathered in Rushville over Saturday and Sunday in their third annual reunion convention, and during the business session, Marion was selected as the place for holding the next reunion.

The first business session was held Saturday afternoon late, in the assembly room of the court house, and the concluding business session was held Sunday morning, when election of officers was held and resolutions adopted.

Foremost among the resolutions, was one endorsing the annual observance of National Defense Day.

The feature on the Saturday program was the banquet given at the Social club, when the 200 former soldiers sat down to "mess".

The convention program ended Sunday afternoon at Memorial Park when Dwight Aultman, commander at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, delivered the address, following a concert by the Eleventh Infantry band of the fort. The "retreat" was held on the vacant place west of the coliseum, and a photograph taken of the members.

In the election of officers, Barnett W. Breedlove of Indianapolis retired as president, and Russell Davis of Marion, elected the new president.

Two vice presidents were elected, first vice president being Fred Elzey of Decatur and Ray Goodwin of Indianapolis second vice president, Floyd E. Anderson of Elizabethtown is the permanent secretary-treasurer of the association.

The retiring president, Mr. Breedlove delivered his address at the Saturday afternoon program, and the various committees were appointed, including the resolution committee headed by C. V. Cross of Indianapolis. The resolutions in part are as follows:

Whereas: September 12 has been designated by General Pershing as "Defense Day," as a time to take stock of our means of national defense.

POLITICAL WORKERS WERE BUSY TODAY

Were Making Final Attempt to Have All Legal Voters Properly Registered

POLLS OPENED ALL DAY

Political workers for both parties were busy in Rushville today attempting to have all voters properly registered in order to vote in the November election.

It was the last opportunity given eligible voters to get their names on the books, and those who failed to be registered will be unable to vote in the election. The registration was for the purpose of listing only those voters who have moved or changed precincts since the last election, or new voters who have never voted.

Indications at most of the registration booths in the precincts of Rushville were that the political workers were working hard to make a big percent in the showing. Many persons previously registered at the clerk's office in the court house, others applied by mail, but most of them appeared personally today at the booths.

Today also was the last chance for persons to move from one precinct to another in order to hold their votes, and those moving after today, will not be eligible to vote in another precinct.

Memories Should Tend to Inspire Better Citizens

Recollection of Comradship During The World War, Carried on Through Times of Peace, is a Stimulus for Civic Virtue, Dwight Aultman, Commander at Ft. Harrison, Tells 139th F. A. Veterans, in Address Sunday Afternoon. Much Interest is Shown at Closing Session of Convention, With Public Attending

To carry throughout life the recollection of comradship during the war and the vast importance that can be gained from such memories in peace times, was the keynote to the address of Brigadier General Dwight Aultman, commander of the forces at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, who spoke to the 139th Field Artillery association Sunday.

There was a large crowd on hand, not only of former soldiers, but of citizens who applauded the veteran soldier and gave him quite an ovation, when he was introduced by Harry E. Smith, adjutant general of the Indiana National guard forces.

Mr. Smith was introduced by a few remarks by John H. Kiplinger of this city, who was in charge of the arrangements for the third annual convention of the 139th Field Artillery association gathering here. Adjutant General Smith praised General Aultman as being a leader among men and he was pointed out as being one of the best commanders ever in charge of the Indiana post at Ft. Harrison.

The Eleventh Infantry band from the fort, acted as an escort for General Aultman and the thirty piece musical organization under the leadership of Sergeant Wilhavanin rendered a concert on the stage of the coliseum for an hour preceding the address. The army band came here in large motor trucks, and marched from the business district to the coliseum. Every number that they played was highly enjoyed.

After General Aultman had been introduced he stated that he was glad of the opportunity of speaking to the former members of the 139th Field Artillery. He applauded them for their valuable service rendered during the World War.

"Such an association as you men have formed," he said, "serves to bring back the recollections which are held by you. As we grow older we will cherish those recollections more and more. We don't remember the easy times that we had, but we do remember the hard times."

The commanding officers stated that the World War taught them one important thing—discipline. He then compared the fact that the object lesson of discipline taught them during the war, was carried on to their graves, with the purpose of making better citizens out of them for all time to come.

He compared the reunion gatherings of the field artillery as being for the purpose of encouraging them to become better citizens. To be better citizens during peace time was even more important than during war time, he stated.

"Discipline is the voluntary subjection of a man to carry his orders and ideals through," General Aultman pointed out. "Discipline is the subjection of an individual from within, is my way of defining it."

The speaker recalled the confidence that the soldiers had in their leaders, and the confidence and fidelity that they had in their comrades, next in line on the battle front. These traits should be continued in all future to come, he said, with the view of making and uplifting the peace time quality of our citizenship.

"Such an organization as you men have formed, is for the purpose of consecrating those bygone days, and to promote civic virtue among all," he said. Civic virtue is needed by all, and we need it in peace, as well as war."

General Aultman also paid a compliment to Adjutant General Harry R. Smith, commander of the Indiana National guard. He referred to his leadership with the guard companies

CAUSE AND EFFECT

New Institute, Designed to Perpetuate the Memory of Hoosier Poet Is Ready

CEREMONIES ON TUESDAY

An Impressive Program has Been Arranged for the Dedication—Entire State Invited

Indianapolis, Ind., October 6—Tomorrow—Tuesday, October 7—on the birthday anniversary of James Whitcomb Riley, there will be dedicated a new institution, designed to perpetuate the memory of Indiana's beloved poet of childhood, and devoted to the cure of sick and crippled children who were immortalized in his most appealing verses.

In the pivotal point of an area that is destined to become one of America's foremost medical and hospital centers, stands the James Whitcomb Riley Memorial Hospital for Children. Three of its seven units are complete and ready to receive the first child patients of the thousands of ailing and afflicted children of Indiana who will enter its portals to receive the health giving ministrations of skillful physicians and surgeons and the tender care of kindly nurses. As rapidly as the generous hearted men and women of Indiana rally to the support of this great institution and give the funds that are needed to complete the remaining units, the construction work will go on, and instead of being able to receive only a few scores of patients, the hospital will be capable of treating 3,000 cases of child illness or deformity annually. The need for these additional units was expressed recently by Governor Branch recently when he stated that he was informed 10,000 children in Indiana now need the services of the Riley Hospital for Children.

Impressive dedication ceremonies have been arranged for the formal presentation of the hospital to the people of Indiana by the Riley Memorial Association. Two men—both of high standing in American educational circles—Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times and formerly commissioner of education for the state of New York, and Dr.

BAPTIST CHURCH TO OBSERVE RALLY WEEK

All Day Meeting Next Sunday Will End Series of Nightly Sessions This Week

FORMER PASTOR TO SPEAK

This week will be observed as "Rally Week" at the First Baptist church. The program for the week will begin tonight at 7:30 o'clock with a meeting of the Sunday school teachers and officers and the officers of the organized classes. Questions relative to the organization and program of the school for the coming year will be discussed.

Tuesday evening's program will be given over to the young peoples' work. Officers will be elected and other matters of importance will be discussed. On Wednesday night there will be a men's banquet. Thursday night will be a general meeting for the whole congregation and Friday night the music committee and choir will plan the music for the coming Sunday.

The program will close with an all day meeting on Sunday. Dinner will be served at the church. At 2:30 o'clock the Rev. C. J. Bunnell a former pastor, will speak. A more detailed announcement of the program for Sunday will be made the last of this week.

CHARGED WITH AN ATTEMPT TO KILL

Silverton Miller Arrested as Suspect of Having Fired Three Times at Elbert Carr

NEAR TRAGEDY SUNDAY NIGHT

Resident Was Fired Upon Through Window, and Twice Outside—Hit Once Through Finger

Silverton Miller, 219 West Sixth street, was held in jail today on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, following his arrest Sunday night as a suspect of having fired at Elbert Carr, at his residence, Third and Julian streets.

Three shots were fired, according to Patrolman Will Havens, one of the officers who were called to the scene of the shooting about nine o'clock Sunday night. One of the shots struck Mr. Carr on a finger on his right hand.

Mr. Carr suspected Miller of shooting and a net was laid for him by police and Sheriff Hunt, who arrested him a short time later riding in a machine at Second and Main streets. He was placed in jail, and this afternoon the affidavit was filed by Prosecutor Ketchum charging the defendant with attempting to kill Mr. Carr.

According to the police, Mr. Carr was involved in a litigation a few weeks ago with the prisoner, in which he attempted to get possession of rooms occupied by Miller at his residence at the corner of Julian and Third streets.

According to officers there was a grudge existing because of the ejection proceedings, and this was cited as the reason for Mr. Carr suspecting him of doing the shooting. Police stated that they had witnesses who saw Miller in that vicinity shortly before the shooting.

Mr. Carr was sitting in the front part of his house Sunday night about 9 o'clock, when a shot was fired through the window, presumably at his head. The double thickness of the window glass, combined with the fact that the bullet hit the piece of wood in the window curtain, caused the shot to fall at Mr. Carr's feet, according to the officers.

They asserted that Mr. Carr, got

MOTORIST IS SHOT DRIVING HIS CAR

Elmer F. Pidgeon of Spiceland Wounded Mysteriously Sunday on Road East of Here

FIRE ON FROM BEHIND

Bullet From Rifle Goes Into Shoulder—Was Removed to Hospital in Indianapolis

Mystery surrounds the shooting of Elmer F. Pidgeon of Spiceland, who was driving his machine on a road east of Rushville Sunday shortly before noon, and a shot fired into his back from the bushes along the road.

His condition was not regarded as serious unless complications should arise, although the lead bullet from a 22 calibre rifle was imbedded deeply into his shoulder and required expert attention at the St. Vincent's hospital, Indianapolis, where he was removed.

Police officers, assisted by Sheriff S. L. Hunt were investigating the affair Sunday and today, and are working on several clues, but so far no arrests have been made.

Mr. Pidgeon was driving a Buick roadster, accompanied by his wife and two small sons. They were going south on the road that passes through Farmington, east of here three miles.

The machine had passed the Connersville-Rushville road on a short distance, when the shot rang out from behind the machine, and Mr. Pidgeon stopped the car and told his wife that he had been shot.

He was rushed to the office of Dr. R. O. Kennedy in this city, who administered first aid treatment and suggested that he be taken home. After arriving in Spiceland, the pains increased and the physicians decided

Winners Tie up the Game in the Second With Two Singles and an Error

ADDED WITH A WILD PITCH

Senators Rallied in the Ninth Inning and Filled the Bases, But Lost Out

THREE PITCHES IN NINTH

McGraw Uses Good Headwork to Prevent a Blow up at the Critical Moment

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 6—Two singles an error and a wild pitch in the second inning gave the New York Giants two runs here this afternoon and enabled the National League champions to beat the Washington senators 6 to 4 in the third game of the world series.

Battling steadily as they did all season and in the first two games of the series, the senators rallied in the ninth inning and gave the Giants a terrible fright. They scored one run and McGraw used three pitchers to stop them. With the bases filled and the stands in an uproar McGraw pulled out Ryan and sent Jonnard in. He issued a base on balls and forced in a run. John Watson, the former Brave, was then called on with a sore arm. He steadied and got little "Muddy" Ruel, the Washington catcher, for the third out on an infield runner to Lindstrom.

1st Inning

Washington: Liebold out, Frisch to Terry after Frisch fumbled. Harris fielded to Young in deep right center. Rice walked. Goslin out, Frisch to Terry. No runs, no hits, no errors.

2nd Inning

Washington: Judge singled past Jackson to left center. Bluege hit into a double play. McQuillan to Frisch to Terry. Peck out, Lindstrom to Terry after a fumble. No runs, one hit, no errors.

3rd Inning

Washington: The official scorer announced that Zachery should be credited with Washington's victory yesterday instead of Marberry as previously ruled. Ruel walked. Marberry forced Ruel at second. McQuillan to Frisch. Liebold fied to Wilson in short left. Harris fouled to Terry in front of the stand. No runs, no hits, no errors.

4th Inning

Washington—Rice walked. Goslin fied to Frisch back of second. Frisch making a running catch over his shoulder. Judge hit over third base for a double. Frisch stopped at third. Wilson's return went through Frisch but Rice made no attempt to score from third. Bluege walked filling the bases. Miller fied to Wilson. Rice scored after the catch. The other runners holding their bases. Ruel walked filling the bases. The giants made a play for Judge who had started to steal and tagged him before he got to the bag but the umpires ruled that he was entitled to the base on Ruel's walk. McQuillan was taken out of the box and Ryan replaced him. Tate was batting for Marberry. Tate walked. Judge scored.

You know what you want to eat but do you know where to buy it to the best advantage? Selecting a place to buy is often a problem. There are so many grades of foodstuffs that it is difficult for many people to know which is the best for the amount of money invested. It isn't necessary for us to tell you what we sell because we sell everything that is to be found in a first class grocery store — everything for which there is the least demand. What we want to impress upon the minds of our friends is the fact that it is our policy to sell only food stuffs of known value and of recognized quality, yet you will find our prices on many articles lower than those asked for goods of inferior quality at many stores.

WE BUY ALL KINDS OF PRODUCE. GET OUR PRICES ON EGGS, BUTTER, POTATOES AND LARD, ETC.

up and went outside and was fired at twice as he was walking across the street to use a neighbors telephone. One of the shots struck him on the finger, inflicting a painful wound, but not of a serious nature.

The gun fired was a 32 calibre, according to the police, who have the bullet in their possession that was found in the room occupied by Mr. Carr, when first fired upon.

Upon the information ascertained by the police, the charge of an attempted murder was placed against the defendant in the circuit court, and the defendant will be given a preliminary hearing soon.

Walter A. Jessup, president of the University of Iowa, will be the principal speaker. The University of Iowa controls the Iowa State Hospital for Crippled Children, which until the building of the Riley Hospital, was America's leading institution of its kind.

Hugh McK. Landen, president of the Riley Memorial Association, will deliver the first address in which he will tell of the beginning of the dream in the minds of a small group of men that has resulted in the building of the Riley Hospital for Children. L. C. Huesman, chairman of the finance committee of the Memorial Association, will formerly present to the state of Indiana, the partially completed institution. Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president of Indiana University, will accept the gift on behalf of the state.

"Our Responsibility to Childhood" will be the subject of the address by Dr. Jessup. The address of Dr. Finley, which will close the ceremonies, will be "A Monument to James Whitcomb Riley."

From all parts of Indiana are coming to Indianapolis, men and women who were identified with the movement that made possible the building of the Riley Hospital. Many women, prominent in various communities of the state, are coming to serve as members of a state wide committee of women headed by Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the former vice-president of the United States. These women will be the guests at a special luncheon at the Indianapolis Athletic Club at noon and they will occupy specially reserved seats at the dedication ceremonies.

Newspaper editors and publishers from all parts of Indiana will be special guests at the hospital dedication, and Tuesday evening, Dr. Finley, who is one of the most eminent journalists in America, will be the speaker at a dinner given exclusively for Indiana newspaper men who attend the afternoon ceremonies.

fense, and an opportunity to renew our pledge of fidelity and loyalty to our common country, we the members of the 139th F. A. association do hereby endorse and approve of the annual observance of the day.

Whereas: Captain John H. Kiplinger as chairman of the general committee and Captain Lowell M. Green as chairman of the banquet committee and their associates have been untiring in their efforts to make the Third annual reunion of the 139th F. A. an enjoyable occasion, the Regimental association desires to express their sincere thanks and appreciations.

Furthermore: the 139th F. A. association at their 3d reunion in Rushville, expresses our cordial thanks to the citizens of Rushville for the delightful entertainment and warm hospitality shown us while guests of the city, and that a copy of these resolutions be given to the press.

The above resolutions were passed and another one speaking complimentary words to Floyd E. Anderson of Elizabethtown, who is the permanent secretary-treasurer of the association. At the close of the exercises Sunday afternoon, when the "retreat" was made, C. V. Cross of Indianapolis stopped in the midst of it, and "commanded" Mr. Anderson to step out in front of the ranks. In a few fitting remarks, Mr. Cross spoke of the valuable service that Mr. Anderson was rendering the association, and stated that the members wanted to give him a remembrance. He was presented with a fine white gold watch, and was completely taken by surprise.

At the banquet Saturday night at the social club, the War Mothers and the wives of the World War veterans, were in charge, and the "mace" was pronounced as one of the best ever, and nothing was left undone to see to it that all were given as much to eat as they wanted.

At the banquet, John H. Kiplinger acted as toastmaster, and several of the soldiers were called upon for short talks. Jokes were sprung on each other, and a fine time was indulged in.

Adjutant General Harry B. Smith, commander of the Indiana National guard, who is a veteran soldier, was a guest and delivered the main address. General McIntyre was unable to come, and his message, together with other telegrams were read by Mr. Kiplinger.

The guests registered at the Hotel Lotus and were given badges. All were able to take care of, and each veteran was high in their praise for the entertainment and hospitality shown them during their visit here.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

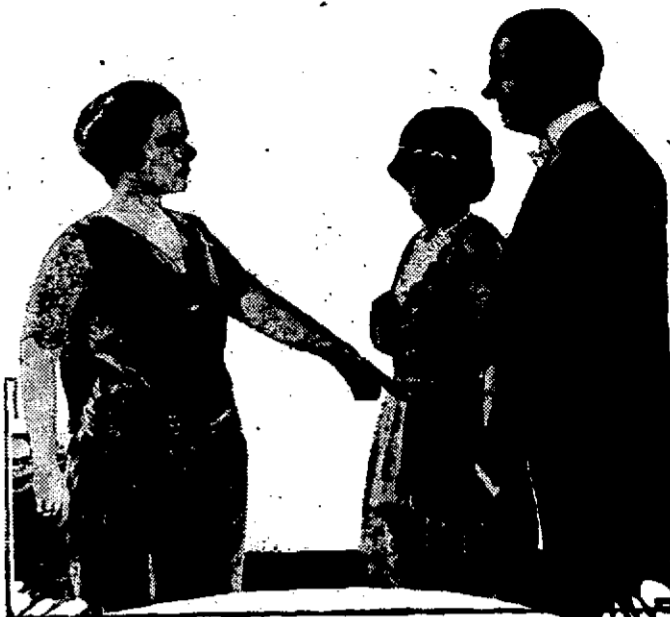

A marriage license was issued Saturday in the clerk's office to John C. Hokey, a factory worker and Elsie A. Hokey of this city. The couple was divorced in 1923.

Rules for right living:—Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice; and be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. Ephesians 5:31,32.

Prayer:—Fill our hearts, O Lord, with thy love wherewith Thou hast loved us, and then we will think no evil.

The World Series

Once more the world series is with us. It comes with October every year, the best team wins and fans call it the "world's" champion.

There are people who take no interest in base ball and therefore, no interest in the annual settlement of the question of team superiority, but the game has such a wide appeal in this country that it may well be called the national sport.

Football and basketball have their staunch adherents, but no game equals base ball in popularity. There is something about it that fits the true American idea of sportsmanship. Though co-ordinated effort by members of the team counts, each player shoulders a certain responsibility that calls for quick thinking and accurate action.

Unlike football, it is a game where every play can be seen and where every player has to measure up to his job.

Some objection is made to organized base ball because fortunes have been made by capitalizing the sport, but public opinion has made itself felt to such an extent that the club owners realize the necessity of keeping the sport clean.

The scandal in the Cincinnati-Chicago series should have been a lesson to players as well as managers but it evidently has been forgotten by some few of them.

People who find pleasure in base ball will demand that the crooks be

2 Years Trouble Entirely Gone

Says Mrs. Hines in Telling Her Experience With Tanlac

While on a recent visit to relatives in Louisville, Ky., Mrs. H. C. Hines, 1141 S. Keystone Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., gave out the following interesting statement regarding her experience with Tanlac:

"Two years of nervous indigestion had broke me so completely down that I was unable to even wait on the children. I got to where life was almost unbearable and every effort I made to regain my health ended in disappointment.

"But just when things looked darkest—when I felt that I would never be well again—I began taking Tanlac, which at that time was new on the market, and I found it, indeed remarkable. After about 8 weeks of the treatment I felt like a woman made over, nor have I had any of the old stomach and nerve troubles since. If I should need medicine again, I should think of Tanlac.

"But just when things looked darkest—when I felt that I would never be well again—I began taking Tanlac, which at that time was new on the market, and I found it, indeed remarkable. driven out and that honesty be the rule in dealing with the public.

The club owners showed a disposition to be fair with fans when they gave Commissioner Landis supreme authority in dealing with unfair and dishonest players and managers.

He has the backing of lovers of the sport everywhere, who want to see him rid base ball of the men who have given it a bad name.

How To Live Long

The average person may not be aware of the fact, but you can live six hundred years if you split your cholin.

This is the assertion of Dr. William Held of Chicago, who explains that cholin is the substance that coats glands, clogs them up and results in old age and senility.

So, to get at the seat of the trouble, the natural thing is to have a "cholin splitter" a disintegrator, as it were, which routs cholin and restores youthfulness.

Dr. Held insists that he has found a serum, made from the fresh glands of streets, which will do the work.

There is nothing new in the knowledge that cholin exists in the human blood, he says. It is ptomaine poisoning filtering into the blood from products of decomposition.

Thomas Parr, an Englishman, is reputed to have lived to the ripe old age of 154 and the Hungarian Zartini is said to have been 185 when he died. Dr. Held believes they absorbed some cholin splitter into their systems.

Medical science has not passed on the "secret" to long life, so most of us will suspend judgment and keep on absorbing our cholin until such time as those fitted by technical knowledge and experience come to some conclusion about the merit of the serum.

But the prospect of living to be six hundred years old has something that recommends itself, even though the means by which such an end is to be attained can not be regarded as very tenable.

Church Attendance

The commission on evangelism of the Federal Council of churches has started a campaign, to continue through the winter until Easter, which is designed to win converts for Christ through individual appeal.

Getting back to the plan of the Saviour, it is proposed that congregations everywhere shall send their members two by two into their neighborhoods to persuade people to take up Christian living, and in so doing acknowledge their belief in it by joining church, or attending if they already belong to some faith.

This appears to be the proper way to attack the problem of declining church attendance. The layman evangelist, if he himself lives the kind of a life that is an example for others to follow, can be much more effective in winning new recruits for Christian living than any other method.

The mass appeal lacks the personal touch that wins men and women to the cause of Christian living. Nothing is so powerful as good example. When deeds stand behind the invitation, it will be convincing. Otherwise such a campaign will accomplish little.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY E. HUNT

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Army and navy officials are usually easily having a little fun out of the hero's most stirred up by Rear Admiral Charles F. Phunkett, commander of the Third Naval District at New York. In coming to command a Broadway play in which certain marriages within in language and classic situations so startling as to cast doubt on the efficacy of the marine corps as a medium of moral uplift.

The "Old Toss" and "Devil Dogs" about the navy building are getting a lot of smiles out of Phunkett's efforts, particularly, to expurgate the profanity in the play.

They concede that as an officer of long experience, Phunkett probably is an expert judge of propriety; but most of them were under the impression that he had lost his sensitivity to strong language, even by men in uniform.

That profanity is not unknown in the service, and that it is even indulged in, under provocation, by high officers, is asserted by one officer who recalls that when Admiral Phunkett was in command of the big naval guns which Uncle Sam sent up to the front on rail-way mounts, shortly before the armistice, he himself was moved to picturesque and expressive expletives on one occasion when one of the big guns wouldn't fire.

"BUT," observes an officer of marines, "the cussin' done by Phunkett when the gun wouldn't go off wasn't a whisper to the stuff our boys ripped out when the thing was fired."

"I was with an outfit of 75 artillery that had its horses parked about a quarter of a mile from where his Naval Nibs had his big roasters lined up, and when those babies cut loose—wow!"

"The concussion blew our pup tents away. It gave us headaches. It woke us out of a sound sleep after 35 hours of hauling ammunition. It attracted German bombers. It played hell with the horses."

"Phunkett's commander down to the lowest rank private was all aboard the general from stem to stern. We saved him and his crew with all the guns we had and known before engagement, with others we had loaded in a year and a half of service, and with still others which bubbled up out of sheer inspiration."

"How the admiral must have changed since those days, to let a few ordinary book cuss words get his goat."

THIS admiral's concern over the "welfare of the service," through possible slight cast upon it by the play in question, also stirs an old side-kick of his to reminiscence.

"Where is the admiral's sense of humor," this old officer inquires.

"Just because a play intimates that our marines drink and have their little affairs he fears this will stop enlistments. When he was supervising marine construction in dear old Quaker, Mass., he knew better than that."

"And does he remember the trip of the special squadron to France 15 years ago?"

JUST what these old-timers recall, or claim to recall, in their "kidding" of Phunkett and his moral crusade against "What Price Glory" would make almost as thrilling a play as the drama against which the admiral has turned his heavy batteries.

His navy fellows are enjoying it, fully. Doubtless the producer of the play is also, for the publicity he has given it is packing the place to the galleries each night. And far from harming enlistments, it may be helping them.

"After seeing that play," one visitor remarked as he stumbled out of the theater, "I'd join the marines myself if I was five years younger and not married. Yes, even if I was just five years younger."

in the state, as outstanding and had reached the point today of being more highly regarded than ever before in the history of the state.

General Aultman stated that there was a time when the National Guard was referred to rather slightly by most people, but he said from his country-wide vision of the guard, it is today ranking in the highest point in the esteem of the people, and he made a plea that sometime it would be an honor to belong to the guard.

He recalled the fact that the foundation of the 139th Field Artillery was from national guard units, and their success in the war demonstrated the value of their training. General Aultman referred to the enlistment in the guard company as belonging to the peace time army.

That General Aultman was speaking from the bottom of his heart was emphasized by the fact that his son graduated from college last summer, and when the son asked him what was the first thing that he should do, "I told him to go and join some national guard unit, which I am pleased to say, he did."

He pointed out that if war would break out, that the first line troops for the nation would be selected from the national guard.

Before closing his address he again made the appeal for peace time citizenry on a high scale, and urged the members of the 139th association, to continue to hold their annual meetings, and also urged upon all people to uphold the fine doctrines that stand out in this nation.

New Treatment for Varicose or Swollen Veins

Swollen veins are dangerous and often hurt. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and banches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil; it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal. It is guaranteed.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that enlarged glands, veins and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

CENTER EFFORTS ON LOUISIANA 11

Coach Ingram Has Number of Tricks
up His Sleeve When "Scrappin' Hoosiers" Take Offensive

CONTEST WILL BE OCT. 11

Southerners Are Coached by Mike
Donahue, Famous For Powerful
Lines He Turns Out

Eloomington, Ind., Oct. 6—All efforts this week of coaches and players will be centered toward preparing for the intersectional contest with the Louisiana state university eleven at Indianapolis, Oct. 11. Coach Ingram has a number of tricks up his sleeve that will be brought forth when the "Scrappin' Hoosiers" take the offensive. The day has been designated as "Dixie Day" and Indianapolis will be decorated for the occasion. The game will be played at Washington Park.

The Southerners, coached by Mike Donahue, former Auburn mentor, and famous for the powerful lines that the Georgia school turned out while under his tutelage, is coaching the Pelicans. Having had 26 more practice sessions than the Indiana team, Donahue's men have had a splendid opportunity to get into mid-season form. The Rebel line averages 194 pounds and the backfield averaging 168 pounds, is regarded of ideal weight an speed.

While the "Scrappin' Hoosiers" have played two games this season, the full strength of the Crimson is expected to be developed in the encounter next Saturday Coach Ingram will devote himself to teaching the players new formations and plays and these will be in evidence when the Hoosiers take the offensive. "Sunny" Sandstrom, line coach, will look after the forward wall men and drill in blocking and tackling will be a salient feature of the practice week. The intersectional contest probably will find George Fisher, giant tackle, back in his old position. Injured before the first game, the tackle has been sitting on the sidelines. Ninnes a strong man in the line for two years will be Fisher's mate. The guards in all probability will be Bernoske and Springer, Prucha and Vessel likely will be seen at the ends and ex-captain Butler will play the center position. The first backfield will be composed of Lorber, quarter-back, Sloate and Marks, halves and Zivich, full. Coach Ingram will have two teams of reserves to shove into the game when occasion demands.

"Pleasure Mad," Princess

One of the most promising pictures of the year is "Pleasure Mad," the Reginald Barker production, coming to the Princess theatre today and Tuesday. This is Mr. Barker's third picture for Metro and Louis Z. Mayer. The other two were "Hearts Afire" and "The Eternal Struggle," both of which scored immediate success.

Mary Alden, who was recently featured in "The Eagle's Feather," will again appear in her favorite role of a mother, the kind of a role that won her fame in "The Old Nest." Huntley Gordon, famous for his sterling characterizations in "The Int Code," will play opposite her. Other favorites also exceptionally well cast include William Collier,

Jr., Norma Shearer, Winifred Bryson and Frederick Truesdell.

"Pleasure Mad" was adapted from Blanche Upright's novel, "The Valley of Content." Dealing with the fortunes and misfortunes of a happy family of moderate means which is split up by the affections and indulgences which follow sudden acquisitions of wealth, this book has proven one of the most popular novels of the last year.

Norbert Brodin, who has done in many productions, is the camera man, and the scenario was by A. P. Younger, who wrote the screen versions of "Fair and Warmer" "The Walk-offs" and "The Flirt."

SUPREME COURT NOW IN SESSION

High Court of the United States,
Whose Power is Campaign Issue,
Starts Term

CONGRESS IS MAIN ISSUE

Court Must Decide Whether Investi-
gation Committees Has Certain
Powers

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 6—The Supreme Court of the United States, whose power is one of the foremost issues in the presidential campaign, convened today for its 1924 term with an important limitation of the power of congress the principal question now before it for decision.

At the very time a major political movement is under way to curb the court, it is called upon to determine just what authority the congress has to inquire into the affairs of private citizens. A whole group of cases ranging from the refusal of Harry F. Sinclair to testify before the Teapot Dome investigating committee to the refusal of steel companies to furnish the Federal Trade Commission with production costs has brought this question squarely before the court.

The court must decide whether investigating committees of congress may compel private citizens to testify, whether private citizens may be required to deliver up accounts and business records to the agents of such a committee, and whether congress can authorize the Federal Trade Commission to delve into the business affairs of persons or corporations.

The question, with its many implications and possible consequences, is one of the most important upon which the Supreme Court has had to rule in many years. If it decides congress has no such authority congressional resentment may but add fuel to the LaFollette agitation to limit the power of the court. If it de-

Acquitted

It took a jury at Pontotoc, Miss., just four minutes to acquit Mrs. Murrell Pennington Conaway, 26-year-old bride, of the murder of Money Warren. She pleaded she had killed Warren, a neighbor, "in defense of her life and honor" after he had chased her from a field, threatening to attack her.

termines that private business and private persons are subject to the inquisitive demands of congress or its delegated agents or committees, it is certain to mark a peculiarly significant increase in the powers of congress.

The famous cases involved in the Teapot Dome investigation are not yet directly before the court, but it is expected various phases of them may get there before the end of this term. However in an indirect way the court already has before it subsidiary issues arising out of the great senatorial investigations of the last session of congress.

Mel Daugherty, brother of former Attorney General Daugherty, refused to permit the senate committee investigating his brother's admiration to inspect the books of his Ohio bank. The committee held it had a court's power of subpoena. But the Daughertys took the question to court. The Supreme Court now has the question.

Another phase of the investigations which must soon be decided is the contempt case brought against Harry F. Sinclair. Sinclair refused point blank to testify before the Teapot Dome committee. He asserted the committee had no right to require him to testify. He was found guilty in lower federal courts of contempt of the senate. When the Supreme Court finally passes on the question the principle of the power of congress to require citizens to testify before it or its committee will be established.

IS YOUR WORK HARD?

Many Rushville Folks Have Found
How to Make Work Easier

What is so hard as a day's work with an aching back?
Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn?

There is no peace from that dull ache.

No rest from the soreness, lameness and weakness.

Many folks have found relief through Doan's Pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Rushville people recommend Doan's.

Orville Gilbert, shoe repairer, 639 W. Ninth St., Rushville, says: "Mornings I was mighty lame and stiff across my kidneys. Lifting work came hard, because when I stooped, sharp catches took me across my kidneys. A lame back finally made me stay home from work a few days. My kidneys acted so frequently, I had to get up during the night to pass the secretions. Doan's Pills fixed me up in fine shape."
